The One Big Beautiful Bill Act

Myth

Fact

The One Big Beautiful Bill is a tax break for billionaires.

The One Big Beautiful Bill provides the largest middle- and working-class tax cut in U.S. history, putting more than $10,000 a year back into the pockets of typical hardworking families. Low-income workers will see the largest percentage reduction in their tax liability through this pro-growth, pro-worker, and pro-family legislation.

This bill hurts small businesses.

The One Big Beautiful Bill will make the 2017 Tax Cuts and Jobs Act permanent, including the 199A Small Business Deduction, helping Main Street grow and hire. Failure to pass this bill would have resulted in a $4 trillion tax hike.

SNAP work requirements are unnecessary.

Only 28% of able-bodied adults on SNAP work, indicating a failure of the program to fulfill its mission. The One Big Beautiful Bill aims to restore SNAP to help those in genuine need, as almost three-quarters of able-bodied adults without dependents on the program have no earned income.

The One Big Beautiful Bill kicks American families off Medicaid.

This bill strengthens Medicaid for those who need it. Specifically, pregnant women, children, seniors, people with disabilities, and low-income families. It removes waste, fraud, and abuse. The One Big Beautiful Bill removes illegal immigrants, enforces work requirements, and protects Medicaid for the truly vulnerable.

The One Big Beautiful Bill will close rural hospitals.

This legislation creates the Rural Health Transformation Program to provide funding to states and covered facilities, including a wide array of small, rural, and Medicare-dependent hospitals and rural health clinics. Additionally, states and providers have relied on gimmicks like provider taxes and state-directed payments for years to draw down excessive federal funds and offset other state expenses. The bill puts a stop to these gimmicks by prohibiting any new ones from being put in place, but states and hospitals that already have these in place will see no changes. Further, the bill provides certainty for doctors by boosting their reimbursement and allows for larger future payment updates.

This punishes vulnerable Americans with work requirements to receive their benefits.

The work requirements in the One Big Beautiful Bill ask recipients to work, volunteer, study, or participate in job training for 20 hours per week. This requirement applies only to non-disabled adults without young children and promotes dignity, stability, and better health outcomes for families. These work requirements have broad bipartisan support.
